An Enjoyable Affair.

On last Friday evening the Misses Bowyer of this city, issued invitations to that society known as the Sigma Delta Chi, and the majority thereof showed their appreciation of the invitation by assembling at the hospitable home of these young ladies, where a most enjoyable evening was spent. The evening was spent with music and other amusements, and at the accustomed hour delightful refreshments were served, and to say were highly enjoyed, is not necessary. Those present bade the two charming hostesses adieu on Saturday, anxiously awaiting an invitation to an alike social gathering. The guests present were Mrs. W. B. Huston, Misses Janet McCulloch, Nannie Nease, Nannie Gabbert, and Miss Tippet.

A Pleasant Dance.

One of the most pleasant and enjoyable dances of the great number given this season in the Point Club rooms was the one given last Thursday night in honor of Miss Bell, of Gallipolis, who has been the charming guest of Hon. and Mrs. Rankin Wiley. The Point Pleasant National Bank—The New Bank—is now open for business in the Kisar block, Main Street. Don't forget the name.

Revival Meeting.

The revival meeting will begin at the M. E. Church, South, D. V., next Sunday night. We have carefully planned every detail in view of having a great meeting, not in the interest of one denomination alone, but for the best interest of Christ's cause, the town and community. Therefore it is our sincere desire that the pastors and all the people of the other denominations join us, as far as possible, in one united effort to better the religious conditions of the community. And they are all hereby cordially invited to do so, with the assurance that all who come shall receive fair treatment, proper consideration, and due courtesy.

I have had to make the plans for this meeting alone, because I saw no better way, and I humbly trust that they will be satisfactory to all concerned, and prove a blessing to every Church in the city.

Services for the first ten days will be conducted by Rev. M. E. Peck, presiding elder. After that by Rev. H. W. Bromley, evangelist of Wilmore, Ky. These are both men of power and deep spiritual life. Let us ask for and expect great things of the Lord.

We will have a good supply of books. The selection is suited to revival work, full of good songs, soul-stirring, deeply devotional, and easy to sing. All the singers in the town are hereby cordially invited to join us in this effort for the salvation of the people. Come, you are welcome, "Let us sing unto the Lord a new song."

E. T. CATON PASTOR.

Point Pleasant is growing to be one of the best towns in the state.

"Jimmy" Lucas Heard From. Philadelphia, Pa., March 3, '04. Editor Register:

The man Jimmy Lucas, who you published as missing from your place, may possibly be in the neighborhood of Pittsburg, and held under restraint. A mate on the Charleston and Pittsburg packet—he's a large man and lives in the neighborhood of Pomeroy—brought a man to Pittsburg, concealed in the hold of the boat, and he is now in a place run by four men originally from your town—all steamboatmen; two of them are brothers, and are stewards, one of them is called Tom; another is a steamboat engineer whose first name is Wiley—think his last name is Smith; the fourth one is called Billy McFerguson. The man, whom I think is your missing man, appears to be 67 or 68 years old (they all address him as "Uncle Jimmy"); he is dark-haired, with dark mustache turning gray, has thin prominent nose, is active and wiry, spare built, and a little under average size. He takes a drink or two occasionally, when one of his peculiar motions is to stoop down and turn up his trouser legs; when he becomes very talkative and frequently refers to people in some locality that he seems familiar with as "The Point," and always ends by saying that "there's only one real towboat mate afloat, and that's Billy McGuffin." The people that are holding him are running an amusement place on the order not exactly of a Pittsburg "speakeasy," but something of that style, and are exhibiting their "Uncle Jimmy" as a Japanese cook, and former "chef" on the Mikado's flagship, and he's proving a drawing card. Captain Bud Gaskell or Captain Charley Day, care of Caskey's Boat Store, Water st., Pittsburg, might be able to unearth him. I can't give anything more definite, because my detective work is for the Japanese government—that's how I stumbled on to Mr. Lucas—but I'm committed to secrecy with the parties who have him. They are known on the inside as the "Five Roman Brothers."

Hope you will succeed in bringing Mr. Lucas home well and happy. I will be in the neighborhood of Pittsburg again soon and may be able to give you something more to the point.

Respectfully,

The Mikado's Marine Detective

NOVELTIES IN STEIN-BLOCH SMART CLOTHES.

All the clothes novelties of the season that really deserve the name are here, and they came from the tailor shops of the best makers—The Stein-Bloch Co. of Rochester.

You will not find in our stock any "freaks" or outlandish patterns, of the order that many men are beguiled into buying, because recommended by the salesmen as embodying "the latest imported ideas."

If you buy your clothes from us, you may be sure that the style is right—that you may wear the suit with the absolute knowledge that you are perfectly dressed.

The clothes that bear the Stein Bloch label rival custom-made garments and they save you time and annoyance and more than half your tailor's bill.
